Introduction

This manual, number 16 in the series of Red Books, is an official state publication of New Hampshire, issued by the Secretary of State and designed for the use of the legislature of 1919. Conditions brought about by the war have made it advisable to economize in all state printing. For this reason the author has put into this manual only the material that seems absolutely necessary and which members of the legislature always expect to find in it.

The previous number, known as the 1917 Red Book, was a volume of over 500 pages and contained much information of a statistical and historical character concerning New Hampshire and its government. This volume includes only the record of such events as have taken place since the 1917 manual, that is, the special congressional election of 1917, the constitutional convention of 1918, and special councilor elections of 1918 and the regular primary and election of 1918.

2. Natural rights.
3. Society, its organization and purposes.
4. Rights of conscience unalienable.
5. Religious freedom recognized.
6. Public worship of the Deity to be encouraged; right of electing religious teachers; free toleration; existing contracts not affected.
7. State sovereignty.
8. Accountability of magistrates and officers to the people.
9. No hereditary office or place.
10. Right of revolution.
11. Elections and elective franchise.

ARTICLE

12. Protection and taxation reciprocal; private property for public use.
13. Conscientiously scrupulous not compellable to bear arms.
14. Legal remedies to be free, complete, and prompt.
15. Accused entitled to full and substantial statement of charge; not obliged to furnish evidence against himself; may produce proofs and be fully heard, etc.
16. No person to be again tried after an acquittal; trial by jury in capital cases.
17. Criminal trials in county, except in general insurrection.
18. Penalties to be proportioned to offenses; true design of punishment.
19. Searches and seizures regulated.

*The side notes indicate the decisions of the supreme court.

All amendments are shown by notes at the bottom of the page, indicating the year in which they took effect. The amendments of 1792, "so far as relates to the choice of the members of the legislature and the executive officers of the state, county treasurer, and recorder of deeds," took effect on February 1, 1793, and all others on the first Wednesday of June, 1793.

The amendments of 1850 took effect September 16, 1852; those of 1876, August 1, 1877, October 1, 1878, and the first Wednesday of June, 1879, as indicated in the foot notes; those of 1889, April 2, 1889; those of 1902 on March 26, 1903, and those of 1912 on November 20, 1912.

The numbering of the sections of Part II first appeared in the Revised Statutes of 1842. In 1889, when the tenth section of Part II was stricken out, all subsequent sections were moved forward, with the result of making much confusion in citations. In this copy the former numbering has been placed in a parenthesis at the side of the present number.

PART FIRST.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

ARTICLE 1st. All men are born equally free and independent; therefore, all government of right originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

Equality of men;
origin and object
of government.
lii, 212. lxxv, 113.

[ART.]¹ 2d. All men have certain natural, essential, and inherent rights, among which are the enjoying and defending life and liberty, acquiring, possessing, and protecting property, and, in a word, of seeking and obtaining happiness.

Natural rights.
liv, 117; 590.
lxv, 103. lxvii, 59.
lxxii, 95.
lxxiii, 33; 34.
lxxv, 31.
lxxvii, 581.

[ART.] 3d. When men enter into a state of society, they surrender up some of their natural rights to that society, in order to insure the protection of others; and, without such an equivalent, the surrender is void.

Society, its organization and purposes.
lxxi, 555.

[ART.] 4th. Among the natural rights, some are in their very nature unalienable, because no equivalent can be given or received for them. Of this kind are the rights of conscience.

Rights of conscience unalienable.
liii, 9. lix, 225.

[ART.] 5th. Every individual has a natural and unalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience and reason; and no subject shall be hurt, molested, or restrained, in his person, liberty, or estate, for worshipping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience, or for his religious profession, sentiments, or persuasion, provided he doth not disturb the public peace or disturb others in their religious worship.

Religious freedom recognized.
liii, 9. lviii, 240.
lix, 225. lxiv, 48.
lxix, 381.
lxxvi, 420.

[ART.] 6th. As morality and piety, rightly grounded on evangelical principles, will give the best and greatest security to government, and will lay in the hearts of men the strongest obligations to due subjection, and as the knowledge of these is most Public worship of the Deity to be encouraged.

liii, 9. lxvi, 230.
lxxv, 424; 562.

¹ First inserted in this and following articles of Bill of Rights in General Statutes, 1867.

likely to be propagated through a society by the institution of the public worship of the Deity and of public instruction in morality and religion, therefore to promote those important purposes, the people of this state have a right to empower, and do hereby fully empower, the legislature to authorize, from time to time, the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies within this state to make adequate provision, at their own expense, for the support and maintenance of public Protestant teachers of piety, religion, and morality.

Right of electing religious teachers. Sm., 1.
lvi, 508.
lxvi, 230.

Provided, notwithstanding, that the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies shall at all times have the exclusive right of electing their own public teachers and of contracting with them for their support and maintenance. And no person of any one particular religious sect or denomination shall ever be compelled to pay towards the support of the teacher or teachers of another persuasion, sect, or denomination.

Free toleration. liii, 9.

And every denomination of Christians, demeaning themselves quietly and as good subjects of the state, shall be equally under the protection of the law; and no subordination of any one sect or denomination to another shall ever be established by law.

Existing contracts not affected.

And nothing herein shall be understood to affect any former contracts made for the support of the ministry; but all such contracts shall remain and be in the same state as if this constitution had not been made.

State sovereignty. lxvi, 369.

[ART.] 7th. The people of this state have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign, and independent state, and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right pertaining thereto which is not or may not hereafter be by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in congress assembled.

Accountability of magistrates and officers. lxvi, 369.
lxvii, 49.

[ART.] 8th. All power residing originally in, and being derived from, the people, all the magistrates and officers of government are their substitutes and agents and at all times accountable to them.

[ART.] 9th. No office or place whatsoever in government shall be hereditary, the abilities and integrity requisite in all not being transmissible to posterity or relations. No hereditary office or place.

[ART.] 10th. Government being instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security of the whole community, and not for the private interest or emolument of any one man, family, or class of men, therefore, whenever the ends of government are perverted and public liberty manifestly endangered and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought to, reform the old or establish a new government. The doctrine of nonresistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind. Right of revolution.

[ART.] 11th. All elections ought to be free; and every inhabitant of the state, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to elect and be elected into office; [but no person shall have the right to vote, or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state, who shall not be able to read the constitution in the English language, and to write; provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to any person prevented by a physical disability from complying with its requisitions, nor to any person who now has the right to vote, nor to any person who shall be sixty years of age or upwards on the first day of January, A. D. 1904,]¹ [and provided further, that no person shall have the right to vote, or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state who shall have been convicted of treason, bribery, or any wilful violation of the election laws of this state or of the United States; but the supreme court may, on notice to the attorney-general restore the privileges of an elector to any person who may have forfeited them by conviction of such offences.]² Elections and elective franchise.

Protection and taxation reciprocal. Private property for public use, etc. i, 120, 130. ii, 22, iii, 534. iv, 563. vii, 35. viii, 398. x, 369. xi, 19. xvii, 47, 64. xxv, 541. xxvii, 183. xxxv, 141. xxxvi, 404. xlvii, 444. l, 591. li, 504. liv, 590. lvi, 399; 514. lviii, 110; 549. lix, 191; 260; 480. lx, 219; 346; 522. lxi, 631. lxii, 66. lxv, 113. lxix, 33; 445. lxx, 344. lxxii, 95; 311; 532. lxxiv, 90; 538; 593. lxxv, 262. lxxvi, 591; 611. lxxvii, 65.

[ART.] 12th. Every member of the community has a right to be protected by it in the enjoyment of his life, liberty, and property. He is, therefore, bound to contribute his share in the expense of such protection, and to yield his personal service, when necessary, or an equivalent. But no part of a man's property shall be taken from him or applied to public uses without his own consent or that of the representative body of the people. Nor are the inhabitants of this state controllable by any other laws than those to which they or their representative body have given their consent.

Conscientiously scrupulous, not compellable to bear arms. [ART.] 13th. No person who is conscientiously scrupulous about the lawfulness of bearing arms shall be compelled thereto, provided he will pay an equivalent.

Legal remedies to be free, complete, and prompt. xxv, 539, 540. lxi, 610. lxv, 113. lxxvii, 308. [ART.] 14th. Every subject of this state is entitled to a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries he may receive in his person, property, or character, to obtain right and justice freely, without being obliged to purchase it; completely and without any denial; promptly and without delay; conformably to the laws.

Accused entitled to full and substantial statement of charge; not obliged to furnish evidence; may produce proofs and be fully heard, etc. Sm., 367. i, 56; 130, 140. xlviii, 57; 398. lii, 459. lv, 179. lviii, 314. lxiii, 406. lxiv, 442; 491. lxvi, 577. lxvii, 279. lxviii, 496. lxix, 512. lxxiii, 227; 548. lxxv, 516. lxxvi, 309, 310. [ART.] 15th. No subject shall be held to answer for any crime or offense until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him, or be compelled to accuse or furnish evidence against himself. And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself, to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defense by himself and counsel. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled, or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land.

[ART.] 16th. No subject shall be liable to be tried, after an acquittal, for the same crime or offense; nor shall the legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment (excepting for the government of the army and navy, and the militia in actual service) without trial by jury.

[ART.] 17th. In criminal prosecutions, the trial of facts in the vicinity where they happen is so essential to the security of the life, liberty, and estate of the citizen, that no crime or offense ought to be tried in any other county than that in which it is committed, except in cases of general insurrection in any particular county, when it shall appear to the judges of the superior court that an impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the offense may be committed, and, upon their report, the [legislature]¹ shall think proper to direct the trial in the nearest county in which an impartial trial can be obtained.

[ART.] 18th. All penalties ought to be proportioned to the nature of the offense. No wise legislature will affix the same punishment to the crimes of theft, forgery, and the like, which they do to those of murder and treason. Where the same undistinguishing severity is exerted against all offenses, the people are led to forget the real distinction in the crimes themselves and to commit the most flagrant with as little compunction as they do² the lightest [offenses].³ For the same reason, a multitude of sanguinary laws is both impolitic and unjust, the true design of all punishments being to reform, not to exterminate, mankind.

[ART.] 19th. [Every subject hath a right to be secure from all unreasonable searches and seizures of his person, his houses, his papers, and all his possessions. Therefore, all warrants to search suspected [ART.] 20th. In all controversies concerning property and in all suits between two or more persons, except in cases in which it has been heretofore otherwise used and practiced [and except in cases in which the value in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars and title of real estate is not concerned]² the parties have a right to a trial by jury; and this method of procedure shall be held sacred, unless, in cases arising on the high seas and such as relate to mariners' wages, the legislature shall think it necessary hereafter to alter it.

[ART.] 21st. In order to reap the fullest advantage of the inestimable privilege of the trial by jury, great care ought to be taken that none but qualified persons should be appointed to serve; and such ought to [be]³ fully compensated for their travel, time, and attendance.

[ART.] 22d. The liberty of the press is essential to the security of freedom in a state; it ought, therefore, to be inviolably preserved.

[ART.] 23d. Retrospective laws are highly injurious, oppressive, and unjust. No such laws, therefore, should be made, either for the decision of civil causes or the punishment of offenses.

[ART.] 35th. [It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property, and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as impartial as the lot of humanity will admit. It is, therefore, not only the best policy, but for the security of the rights of the people, that the judges of the supreme judicial court should hold their offices so long as they behave well, subject, however, to such limitations on account of age as may be provided by the constitution of the state, and that they should have honorable salaries, ascertained and established by standing laws.]¹

Pensions.

[ART.] 36th. Economy being a most essential virtue in all states, especially in a young one, no pension shall be granted but in consideration of actual services; and such pensions ought to be granted with great caution by the legislature, and never for more than one year at a time.

Constitutional Convention of 1918.

The New Hampshire legislature in 1915 passed a resolution to take a vote of the people on the expediency of revising the constitution, the seven-year period provided for in Article 99 of that document having elapsed since the question was previously considered. The vote was taken at the general state election in 1916 and resulted in an affirmative decision by 21,589 to 14,520.

The legislature of 1917, in accordance with this vote, provided that a convention should be held in June, 1918, and that delegates should be elected to it at the annual town meetings in March, and at special elections on the same day in cities. An appropriation of $35,000 was made to pay the cost of this convention.

The election resulted in the choice of 434 delegates, each ward and town being entitled to a delegate for each representative in the legislature and every town to have at least one delegate whether represented in the legislature or not. The towns of Livermore and Bridgewater, however, failed to elect a delegate and in the towns of Hanover and Ashland there were tie votes and failure to elect. Between the election and the assembling of the convention, delegates-elect George W. Gordon, Republican, of the first ward in Berlin and Edson J. Hill, Democrat, of the eighth ward in Concord, died, and delegate-elect Frank J. Peaslee of Bradford resigned. New elections were held in Concord and Bradford, which resulted in the choice of William A. Lee of the former and Everett Kittridge of the latter, both Democrats.

The convention met at the State House Wednesday, June 5. The delegates were called to order by Major William H. Trickey of Tilton, Commandant of the Soldiers' Home. Prayer was offered by the Rev. Dr. William H. Pound of Wolfeboro, a Congregational minister.

Former Congressman Hosea W. Parker of Claremont was elected temporary president. The convention seated the delegates elected at special elections and those candidates who were tied, the latter being Horace F. Hoyt and Prof. Frank A. Updyke of Hanover, and Albion Kahler and the Rev. Theodosius S. Thyng of Ashland, these four being seated with one-half vote each.

Albert O. Brown of Manchester, chairman of the Tax Commission, was elected president, Judge A. Chester Clark of Concord, secretary of the previous convention (1912), secretary, and Judge Bernard W. Carey of Newport, assistant secretary. Minor officers were elected as follows:

Chaplain, Rev. Archibald Black of Concord; sergeant-at-arms, Walter J. A. Ward of Hillsborough; doorkeepers, Guy S. Neal of Acworth, George Lawrence of Manchester, Albert P. Davis of Concord and Edward K. Webster of Concord; warden of coat room, George Goodhue of Concord; assistant warden, John C. O'Hara of Nashua; messenger, Frank L. Aldrich of Manchester; pages, Joseph H. Lane of Concord and Walter Pillsbury of Derry; stenographers, Misses Margaret Conway of Concord and Bessie Goodwin of Newport.

Two motions were made and defeated, after considerable debate, to adjourn the convention until after the war, one proposition being to do so immediately and one, after consideration and action on the question of taxation.

On the second day of the convention seats were drawn and the committee of the whole considered amendments on taxation. The timber taxation amendment was defeated and on the third day a resolution to adjourn until after the war was reintroduced and adopted. It provided that the convention should reassemble after the war and not later than a year after it, upon the call of the president and a committee of ten delegates, John Scammon of Exeter, Leslie P. Snow of Rochester, Arthur E. Kenison of Ossipee, Judge William A. Plummer of Laconia, James O. Lyford of Concord, Charles S. Emerson of Milford, Harris H. Rice of Rindge, Judge Jesse M. Barton of Newport, Prof. Edwin J. Bartlett of Hanover and John C. Hutchins of Stratford.

The delegates adopted resolutions in support of the war and voted to pay their salaries in thrift stamps. A number of proposed amendments to the constitution were introduced. The President appointed the following standing committees:

Special Councilor Elections.

For the first time in the state's history, death invaded the ranks of the governor's council during the administration of Governor Keyes. Councilor Edward H. Carroll of Warner died in 1917 and Councilor Miles W. Gray of Columbia in 1918.

A special election was held in the fifth and first districts represented by the deceased councilors in connection with the primary election Sept. 3, 1918. Both the deceased councilors were Republicans, and Republican conventions called for the purpose at Concord and Haverhill nominated John H. Brown of Concord and Herbert I. Goss of Berlin to fill the vacancies. The Democrats held conventions and decided to make no nominations.

The result of the election was as follows:

First district:

Herbert I. Goss, Berlin, r.	3,270
Scattering	99

Second district:

John H. Brown, Concord, r.	3,809

RECOUNTS AFTER PRIMARY.

Recounts were held by the Secretary of State after the Primary with the following results:

For Representative, Republican, in Albany, Archie Nickerson had 9 votes and Frank O. Hammond, 12. The recount gave Mr. Nickerson 9 and Mr. Hammond 0. Mr. Nickerson was declared the nominee instead of Mr. Hammond.

For Representative, Republican, in Madison, Isaac W. Frost had 47 votes and Irving J. Hobbs, 42. The recount showed no change and an appeal was taken to the ballot law commission, which declared Mr. Frost's nomination void. Both Frost and Hobbs thereupon ran on nomination papers.

For Representative, Democratic, in Manchester, Ward 11, the vote was:

Thomas J. Conway	129
Ora Wilfred Craig	109
Jeremiah J. Leahy	115
George E. Roukey	108
Alex J. McDonnell	83
Thomas J. Smith	25

The first three were nominated and the recount showed no change except a gain of one vote for Mr. McDonnell.

For Representative, Democratic, in Nashua, Ward 3, the vote was:

Noe Richard	54
Toussaint Ledoux	32
Joseph Boilard, Jr.	30
Thomas J. Buckley	29

The first three were nominated but on the recount Mr. Richard gained one, Mr. Ledoux lost three and Mr. Boilard lost thirteen. Mr. Buckley was declared nominated in the place of Mr. Boilard.

The 13th Senatorial District in Nashua, Democratic, William F. Sullivan had 157 and Alvin J. Lucier had 154, with 70 scattering. On the recount Mr. Sullivan lost 7 and Mr. Lucier lost 15.

In the First Councilor District, Republican, Stephen W. Clow of Wolfeboro had 1,621 and John A. Edgerly of Tuftonboro had 1,612. On the recount Mr. Clow lost two and Mr. Edgerly lost one. An appeal was taken to the ballot law commission, which decided for Mr. Clow.

In the Sixth Senatorial District, Republican, Burt S. Dearborn of Laconia had 433 and William Rockwell Clough of Alton had 400. On the recount Mr. Dearborn gained one and Mr. Clough lost two.

REPUBLICAN ORGANIZATION 1918.

The Republican state convention met at Concord, September 18, under the presidency of Prof. James A. Tufts of Exeter, a candidate for the senate. Speeches were made by Col. John H. Bartlett, the gubernatorial nominee, Senator James E. Watson of Indiana and others, and the following platform was adopted:

Republican Platform.

The Republicans of New Hampshire place the nation first, and pledge their unqualified support to the government at Washington in a vigorous prosecution of the war, that peace may come with victory and not by compromise.

The answer of the President to the spurious peace proposal of Austria meets the cordial approval of New Hampshire Republicans, as it does of every red blooded American patriot.

To the loyalty of Republicans in Congress is the President indebted for the passage of all important war measures, when the leaders of the Democratic party failed him or gave him reluctant support. In this world war no political party has a monopoly of patriotism.

New Hampshire, under the leadership of Governor Keyes, and by the unanimous action of the legislature, early prepared for war; and she has generously responded to every call of the federal government, and through her Republican delegation in Congress has loyally supported the administration in all war policies.

We indorse the nominations made by the party, urge upon the voters united effort to secure their triumphant election, and favor the shortest possible legislative session.

For the winning of the war and for the advance of civilization after the war, we indorse the prohibitory amendment of the United States Constitution. In the meantime, state prohibition should not be impaired.

We are not too proud to fight. We rejoice that the patriotism of our country has been and is being aroused. For the sake of all human kind in the years to come, we are profoundly thankful that we were not kept out of war.

To our boys in France and in training, we pledge not only our loyal and steadfast support, but also a generous recognition upon their return of their service and sacrifice.

To our allies, who have borne the brunt of battle for four long years, we send the greetings of brothers in arms, and solemnly offer our endless service until Germany has made atonement for her crimes against humanity.

Democratic Organization, 1918.

The Democratic state convention met at Concord September 19 under the presidency of Harry F. Lake of Concord, later nominated for congress. Speeches were made by the leading candidates on the ticket, except Edward J. Cummings of Littleton, the candidate for congress in the second district who was ill and subsequently died, and the following platform was adopted:

In the Nation.

We glory in the achievements of our administration under the leadership of our great President, Woodrow Wilson, who has set a standard of statesmanship that is recognized throughout the world, and whose denominating place in world politics should bring pride to the heart of every real American. We pledge to him our undivided support in his aim to bring a permanent peace based upon a complete victory.

We offer our sincerest thanks and express our high appreciation to our soldiers and sailors for their great sacrifices in the cause of freedom and we pledge our full support to them during the war. We also pledge the Democratic Party to care for the returning soldiers and sailors and do all things possible for their comfort and welfare and for the comfort and welfare of the dependents of deceased soldiers and sailors.

We congratulate the people of New Hampshire on their loyal patriotism and whole-hearted support of the President. As a generous people gave to President Lincoln during the Civil War and to President McKinley during the Spanish War a congress in full sympathy with them and of their political faith, so may New Hampshire back up our great Chief Executive and send to Congress men who will without heckling honestly support him in carrying on the war and settling the great questions arising after the war.

In the State.

We congratulate the people of New Hampshire on the magnificent record they have made in all war work and earnestly urge that the coming Liberty Loans and campaigns for funds for patriotic purposes receive the same splendid response.

We demand that the existing State Government immediately make effective the law enacted by the last Legislature by which our soldiers and sailors shall be enabled to vote at the coming election, in order that military service in defense of the country shall not be punished by disfranchisement.

We point with pride to the record of our Party in labor legislation and pledge our continued support to the cause of labor.

We believe in the abolition of the Governor's council and increased membership of the Senate (the representation to be based upon the population and not upon wealth as now), the initiative and referendum, and giving the Governor power to veto certain items in appropriation bills.

We are in favor of sustaining and improving the present Employers' Liability and Workmen's Compensation Act.

We favor the submission to the people of the constitutional amendment granting equal suffrage.

We favor the adoption of the prohibitory amendment to the federal constitution and the impartial enforcement of the present laws.

We pledge ourselves to economy in state expenditures, to the passage of only rational and necessary laws and to a business administration of all state affairs.

We demand increased efficiency in our schools and we pledge ourselves to give the cause of education and Americanization generous support.

We pledge the Party to support the candidates of the Party duly nominated.

Senatorial Conventions.

During the primary campaign, Dr. Jacob H. Gallinger of Concord, senator since 1891, died, and the governor appointed Irving W. Drew to succeed him until the election. Both parties held conventions, the Republicans on September 27 and the Democrats on September 30 to nominate candidates for the Gallinger term, which expires in 1921. George H. Moses of Concord, Republican, and John B. Jameson of Antrim, Democrat, were nominated.

The Progressive party lost its official standing in the election of 1916 and went out of existence. The Prohibition party considered its object practically achieved when New Hampshire adopted prohibition and ceased its political operations. The Socialist party took out nomination papers but later decided not to put a ticket into the field.

Election, November 5, 1918.

The following is the result of the election. In the summary the full name and address of the candidate is given, in the tables only the last name and the party. Political parties are designated by the first letters, "r" for Republican, "d" for Democrat, "i. d." for Independent Democrat nomination papers, "i. r." for Independent Republican nomination papers, "c" for Citizens' nomination papers, and "n. p." for candidates whose names did not appear on the ballot at all but were written in by voters.

The order of the tables is as follows: 1, For governor and U. S. senator; 2, for representative in congress; 3, for councilor, in five districts; 4, for senator, 24 districts; 5, for representatives to the general court; 6, for county officers.
